Ramba’s Logistics unit wins new marine logistics contract worth about S$10 million to support offshore platform installation

Singapore, 31 March 2011 – RichLand Logistics (“RichLand”), the subsidiary of SGX-listed Ramba Energy Limited (“Ramba”), has won a new marine logistics services contract, worth approximately S$10 million, to support the installation of an offshore gas processing platform in the waters of South-east Asia.

Under the contract awarded by a leading offshore engineering and construction company in the global oil and gas industry, RichLand will serve as lead logistics provider to manage the supply of 4 vessels, including an offshore accommodation barge capable of hosting up to 400 crew and two anchor handling tugs (AHT).

In addition, RichLand will be responsible for the provision of full Food and Beverage catering to personnel and crew. RichLand will also take charge of supply vessel support from the mainland to offshore location, including inbound transportation of spare parts and equipment.

The installation of the sea-based platform is scheduled to commence in the second half of 2011 with completion scheduled before year end 2011.

Mr Colin Moran, Logistics Director, Ramba Energy Limited said, “Since early 2010, we have been steadily increasing our service capabilities to deliver larger-scale project logistics contracts, with a focus on the oil and gas sector. ”

“This deal combines the strengths of RichLand and our suppliers. It is a strong vote of confidence in our ability to package comprehensive and cost-effective solutions for our customers. We are developing further regional capacity and looking forward to continued growth for RichLand in this exciting sector.”
